Heather Rogers, LPC
National Health Service Corps Award Recipient
ChangePoint Integrated Health
Snowflake, Arizona

Heather Rogers is a National Health Service Corps Scholar and currently works at ChangePoint Integrated Health, a community mental health center in Snowflake, Arizona. She recently opened a private practice in White Mountains, Arizona. Heather specializes in play therapy and is working towards licensure as a Registered Play Therapist. She is a graduate of Arizona State University, where she earned a bachelor’s degree in psychology. She went on to earn a master’s degree in the subject at Argosy University in 2011. Today, Heather continues to seek education around play therapy and trauma to serve clients to the best of her abilities.